THE VINE, THE BRANCHES and the VINEGROWER

The liturgy of the word today is all centered on the reality of the intimate union between Christ and his disciples. “Abide in me and I abide in you”.

In the first reading, St. John is telling us that what unites us with Christ and keeps us alive in Him is the love we have for one another. It is almost like the air we breathe and the water for the fish. Actually, no human being can live without love, because God who made us is love.

In the Gospel, Jesus gives us another beautiful image, the one of the vine and the branches. The branch cannot either live or produce grapes if it is not connected to the vine. It is a question of life and death for the vine; and also a question of being productive or useless. The vine also gathers the lymph from the ground and pushes it up till the farthest branch. The vine grower does something very important, that is, pruning the vine so that it may bear more grapes. At first, it would seem contradictory to cut some of the branches out, which could produce more grapes. However, the farmer does that in order to allow more sap for the other branches, which will have the energy to produce better grapes. In order to produce grapes, the vine in the springtime needs a special energy, which comes from the sun and the moisture of the soil.

God sometimes has to prune some of our branches that do not produce fruits for our life, so that we may be able to produce better fruits in other areas of our life. Good grapes are also necessary to produce good wine, which in the Bible is the symbol of love. But wine is made by squeezing the grapes, which have to give up their juice in order to make the wine, which then will be fermented.

There are many teachings in this parable, but everything begins with the fact that we must be united with the Lord, if we want to produce any fruit at all, both for us and for our family. Many of our efforts may be ineffective because we lack that connections with the vine. “Without me, you can do nothing”.

Vatican summit on 'theology of the priesthood' will look at questions raised in recent synods.

The title of the symposium is: "Toward a Fundamental Theology of the Priesthood," and will take place from February 17-19, 2022 in the Vatican. It is intended to reflect on the issues raised by the last 3 synods of the Family, of Youth and of the Amazon, including priestly celibacy, dwindling vocations, and the role of women in the Church. As a parish we will pray and follow up on those important issues in our church.
