PETER, DO YOU LOVE ME?

The first words Jesus had repeated to his disciples were: "Peace be with you". He wanted them to understand clearly that he was forgiving them, for having betrayed Him during his passion. He was also giving them that "peace" that only He can give; a peace that can fill your soul and heart with deep joy and tranquility that can come only from God.

Now Jesus wants to re-commit and re-charge his crew and He begins with the head, Peter. His first and foremost question is: Do you love me?

Certainly, this was not a job interview, or an evaluation on the fitness of his character for the job as Pope, but Jesus wanted to be sure of one thing: Do you love me? Can I count on your heart? Are you ready to give it all up for my love?

Peter, as impulsive as usual, answers: Yes, Lord, I love you. But then Jesus asks for the second time, which makes Peter go a little deeper! Now Peter is not sure of himself and he says: "But you know that I love you." Here Peter, doubtful of himself, relies on Jesus' awareness of his love, almost to avoid answering the insisting question of Jesus.

But Jesus keeps pushing and asks for the third time: Do you love me? Peter again insists: "You know everything (which means all my life), you know that I love you". Jesus says: Feed my lambs. Why is Jesus saying to Peter "feed His sheep" three times? Because Peter, like any Pope, has to take care of the three kingdoms that constitutes the Church: The militant, the purgative and the glorious Kingdoms; that is, the earth, the purgatory and heaven. The church is made up of the three reigns: heaven, earth and purgatory, and the pope is the king of the three kingdoms.

DO YOU LOVE ME! This is the personal question that Jesus is addressing to me and to you today. If we say yes, then we can enter his church and be a part of his kingdom and his family. Are we ready to respond: YES, I LOVE YOU?

SCALABRINI THE FOUNDER

Yes, we could live like beasts, but we will not be able to lose sight of our human nature for long; the more our nature is wounded in its dignity, the more its rational identity is stifled, the more it is pulled apart by contrasting appetites, that much more it becomes aware that its inner bonds are being broken, a powerful sense of inner disorder grows, the spiritual gap widens, and the internal conflict heats up and turns more unrelenting. J.B. Scalabrini-Pastoral Letter on Penance - 1895
