FIFTH SUNDAY OF ORDINARY TIME

Grains of Wheat from the Barns of Heaven

Inspirational quotes with St. J.B. Scalabrini

“What’s this? It’s like a new teaching, given with authority.” (MK 1:27)

“The regeneration of society, willed by Christ, begins here on earth and ends up in heaven: it is a moral regeneration for the rich, the powerful, the strong and the wise; it is moral and material redemption for those who have nothing.” Socialism and the action of the clergy, Piacenza 1899

“The debt of everyone who knows the truth is to make it known, to share it with those who do not yet know it and to defend it with determination when it is attacked...In this sense, everyone is an apostle of the truth, just as anyone can also be its martyr.” For the inauguration of diocesan and parish committees, 1881

“We intend to be Christians for real, in our faith and our actions; all of us, priests or laity, united in one heart and soul, obedient and docile, for the inseparable good of religion and country.” IV Regional Meeting of Catholic Lay Congresses, 1897

“In matter of religion, since they deal with dogma or the moral law, with precepts or counsels, with the laws of God or of the Church, of worship or hierarchy, of the Pope, of the Bishops or of the ordinary priesthood, not only our language, but our life as well must sound like a loud cry telling the whole earth: I am not ashamed of the Gospel.” IV Regional Meeting of Catholic Lay Congresses, 187

“Moral strength is what the majority lacks today. This strength is the combined force of the soul and the will, a force that both resists and flows forward, that withstands all assaults and overcomes all obstacles. You too ought to have this moral strength, beginning first with your own convictions.” II Regional Meeting of Catholic Committees, 1889

“We must be men and women of our time, and not grumbling people on the sidelines. The world moves ahead, and we must not remain behind due to formalities or some misunderstood dictate of prudence.” Pastoral Letter for the Centenary of St. Louis, Piacenza 1896
