Grains of Wheat from the Barns of HeavenSt. John Baptist Scalabrini*Walking a Path of Conversion“Turn away from sin and believe in the Good News” (Mk 1:15)

“We can resign ourselves to everything, to deprivations, to bodily infirmities, even to the loss of life itself, but we can never give up our hope of peace. It is a gift from Heaven. The peace of a soul that posses God is unimaginable.” Christmas homily 1896

“Christ in the Eucharist is the strength and the wisdom of God; and we preach Christ, the power and wisdom of God. Sacrifice alone, without the Word, would be an ineffective commemoration.” On the Divine Word, Piacenza 1897

“Nourish the people first with the preaching of the Word of God, with accurate admonitions, with the administration of the sacraments, with your good example and prayer.” Monitiones at the III Synod, Piacenza 1899

“Point out in the Eucharist the antidote that cures us from daily sins and preserves us from mortal sin: Christ is the physician and the medicine. O admirable Eucharistic table, which offers us humility against pride, charity against jealousy, almsgiving against avarice, Chastity against lust, virtues against all vices!” III Synod, Piacenza 1899

“When the Lord, in his infinite goodness and mercy, will allow me to see devotion to the Holy Eucharist deeply rooted in my beloved diocese, then all that remains for me is to repeat with the Simeon: “Now Lord, let your servant go in peace, for my eyes have seen the Saviour” whom you sent us, loved, thanked and venerated by those who are my joy and my crown in time, and will be so for eternity.” Devotion to the Blessed Sacrament, 1902

“Not all, it is true, are called to preach the Gospel like the Apostles, but you are all called, according to your own state and vocation, to commit yourselves to the cause of the Gospel, so as to prevent ruin and devastation to the field of the Divine Farmer.” Homily of Pentecost Day, 1876
