The 3rd Sunday of Easter invites us to reflect on encounters with the risen Jesus. As we reflect, we are called to open our hearts and recognize Jesus' presence in our own lives.

Encountering the Risen Lord

The first Reading today features Peter's speech to the crowd in Jerusalem. Filled with the Holy Spirit, Peter proclaims the Good News of Jesus Christ, starting with his own personal witness to the Resurrection. Through his eloquent and persuasive speech, he invites the people to repent and to be baptized in the name of Jesus Christ.

This passage reminds us of the transformative power of the Resurrection of Christ. We are invited to renew our faith, to repent of our sins, and to live as faithful disciples of the Risen Lord.

Recognizing Jesus

It is unclear why the two disciples who walked with Jesus did not recognize Him. However, it is possible that recognizing Him so easily would have been too simplistic. Instead, they were forced to grapple with their feelings of disappointment and confusion as they conversed with him. They openly shared their emotions with Him, which served as a model for us.

Often, during difficult times in our lives, we may not feel Jesus' presence. However, we should speak to Him candidly about our feelings, without fear of expressing our negative emotions and disappointment.

Transformative Encounters

The common theme in the readings for today is the transformative power of encountering the Risen Lord. Peter and the disciples on the road to Emmaus both experienced a profound encounter with Jesus. They remind us that our faith is not just a set of beliefs, but rather a personal encounter with the living God, who has the power to transform us and to fill us with hope.

As we reflect on these readings, we are invited to ask ourselves whether we have truly encountered the Risen Lord in our lives. Have we experienced His transforming power? Are we willing to bear witness to his Good News, even in the face of opposition or persecution? May we open our hearts to the Risen Lord, who longs to encounter us and to transform us into his faithful disciples.
