The 32nd Sunday in Ordinary Time calls people to seek wisdom, stay prepared, and trust in God's promises.

Lady Wisdom and True Understanding

The first reading today presents Wisdom as radiant and unfading, always available to those who seek her. This image of Wisdom as a woman is striking. It reminds us that true understanding is not hidden but waiting to be found by those who search with open hearts.

The way Wisdom is described also challenges how people view women. Women are often expected to be intelligent and strong, yet they are sometimes overlooked or not taken seriously. This passage reminds people to value wisdom wherever it is found, including in the insights and leadership of women. Seeking wisdom helps people live better and grow closer to God.

Being Ready for What Comes

The parable of the ten virgins in the Gospel teaches about preparation. The wise virgins bring extra oil, while the foolish ones do not. When the bridegroom arrives, only those who are ready can enter the wedding feast. This story is a reminder that people must always be prepared for what comes next. Each person must take responsibility for their own spiritual journey.

The parable shows that those who prepare will find joy, while those who delay may miss out on what truly matters.

The Wisdom of Hope

The second reading reminds believers not to grieve without hope. It speaks about those who have died and reassures that they will rise again. This message is one of comfort and encouragement. Death is not the end, and faith gives people hope for the future.

Hope requires wisdom. A wise person does not only focus on the present but prepares for what is to come. They trust in God's promises and live in a way that reflects that trust. This passage also reminds people of the importance of faith in difficult times. Losing a loved one can bring sorrow, but faith offers peace. Knowing that God has prepared a place for them brings comfort. Hope does not erase grief, but it gives people the strength to move forward.
